

Discovering Hidden Talents!

What is Personal Talent Skills Inventory?

Today, success in business is measured by the ability to attract and select the right talent for the job. It therefore makes sense that companies are seeking better ways to accurately assess, develop and retain top talent. The Personal Talent Skills Inventory (PTSI) is a validated assessment that will assist you in these endeavours.

The Personal Talent Skills Inventory (PTSI) is based on the formal science of Axiology. Axiology uses robust and accurate mathematics to objectively determine how one's mind analyses situations and experiences. The PTSI assesses how a person views the world around them, and how they view themselves within it.

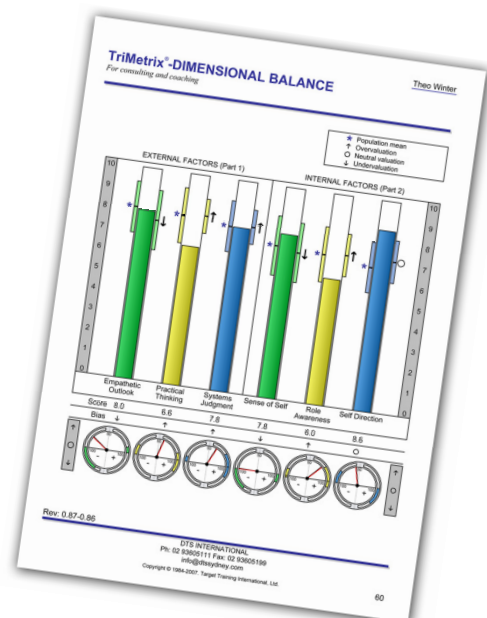

PTSI can identify WHAT natural or 'raw' talent an individual brings to an organisation or situation. This instrument measures a person's focus within (67) personal attributes that are directly applicable to the business environment.

Results and Benefits

The PTSI can contribute successfully to a number of business processes requiring effective talent management. Targeted reports are available to identify key talents required in a number of business positions, including general employment, management, sales management, sales and customer service.

The Personal Talent Skills Inventory will allow you to:

- Understand different peoples natural talents
- Uncover hidden talents at your teams disposal
- Make more informed hiring decisions
- Increase job satisfaction and retention
- Apply individual strengths & manage around limitations
